How long are frozen peaches safe to eat?

about 12 months

Properly stored, frozen peaches will maintain the best quality for about 12 months in the freezer, although they will usually remain safe to eat after that.

Should frozen peaches be thawed before baking?

Take your peaches out of the freezer and throw them right in with the rest of your ingredients. It's that easy. Remember, there's no thawing necessary here—they'll warm up gradually in the heat of the oven.

How long are frozen peaches good for in the fridge?

Peaches that have been defrosted in the fridge can be kept for an additional 3 to 4 days in the refrigerator before using; peaches that were thawed in the microwave or in cold water should be used immediately.
