

Fruit and vegetable chips are popular

Detail Introduction :

Fruit and vegetable chips are all kinds of fruit and vegetable chips produced by vacuum frying and dehydration as the main raw materials. From three perspectives, analyze the reasons why fruit and vegetable chips are so popular among young consumers and the market:

From the perspective of cost, the raw material cost of fruit and vegetable chips is high, especially after the price of edible fungi, it tastes delicious, nutritious, and healthy, and the market price is relatively high, which is in line with the development trend of the domestic snack market.

From a technological point of view, fruit and vegetable chips are of high quality. Due to the high investment and high industry standards, there will be no counterfeit and shoddy related products.

From the perspective of health, fruit and vegetable chips are made from low-temperature dehydration. The resulting food is low in calories, low in fat, and its color and nutritional value will not be destroyed. It does not add the burden on the body and preserves the cellulose of fruits and vegetables.