

We are the ideal link between producers and buyers of onions and other fresh products

Detail Introduction :

For many years, the Dutch company Delta Fresh has been a link for many importers and exporters of onions and other fresh products on the way from growers to consumers. "It offers a comprehensive package of services, from product sorting to customs clearance, from quality control to packaging," says Wim Schouten. Dutch onions are the largest product group for Delta Fresh. "We have all the machines and facilities to sort yellow and red onions in any size and type of packaging. With our large-capacity cold storage rooms, we can respond quickly to meet any order, even very large volume orders. In addition to For yellow onions, we also store red onions all year round. We can rely on Dutch-grown red onions for nine months of the year. In the winter, when the domestic supply is not available, we have produce from Egypt."

"In addition to onions, Delta Fresh offers cooling and storage services for products such as ginger, sweet potatoes, and garlic, as well as specialties such as Chinese chestnuts, apples, and pears. In our facilities, we have all the options for compartments. We can store fresh produce at temperatures as low as -3°C. With a storage space for over 2,000 pallets and our flexible service, we can respond quickly to every request."

"In addition to storage, we offer numerous services such as repackaging large volumes in a short time, regardless of quantity, weight, and number. We also take care of quality control. As a customs warehouse with the title of Authorized Economic Operator (AEO), we can receive and store goods in transit, and we can offer an inspection service recognized by the Netherlands Quality Control Bureau (KCB)," says Wim.